JORDAN TALKS ON RUGBY FOOTBALL

Says American Game Will Never Again Be Allowed at Stanford.

David Starr Jordan, president of Leland ring for an opening the last time we met and, in turning to mitt a pal of mine at the ringside, my ankle turned, and while Row. Stanford, Jr., university, and one of the most noted educators of the country, spent a few hours in Salt Lake yesterday. During his brief stay here he was entertained by Professor Byron Cumentertained by Professor Byron Cummings and Professor Cardiff, of the University. The greater part of the morning was spent in driving about the city and at noon a luncheon was given for Dr. Jordan at the University club. Those present were: Dr. Jordan, Professor Cummings, Professor Cardiff, Professor Leon Wilson Hartman, and A. Sholtz, Dr. Jordan's private secretary. Dr. Jordan left in the afternoon for Montana. At Missoula he will conduct a series of lectures before the university there. From Montana he will return to Salt Lake to address the Utah Academy of Science.

No More for Stanford.

Football will never again be played at Stanford." Dr. Jordan emphatically de-clared yesterday, "although there have clared yesterday, "although that the stu-been many reports recently that the stu-dents would insist on having the great that years restored in the school. The dents would insist on having the great college game restored in the school. The attitude of the school authorities on this matter is definite and it will never be restored in either Stanford or the University of California. It is true that there has been a movement on foot to bring about its re-establishment, but the ruling spirit at the school does not favor it. A few of the younger students stand up for it, but the leading students assert their disfayor. We will never allow any game involving mass plays and interference, and it would be impossible to play the game of football as played by eastern colleges without using such tactics.

"The reason we are against mass plays and interference is that they are uners. Football as played by the eastern schools is not a contest between the men; it is a battle prearranged by coaches. It is nothing more than a struggle between two sides, in which the coaches are the generals. If there is no coach, the game becomes a farce. The coach should be eliminated from the contests, instead of being the central figure, as he is he has a south the falo.

track and field sports—there should be no paid coaches. There should only be advisers and trainers to get the men in good physical condition. The greatest evils in the athletic centers around the while I do not disbelieve in it. I would be coach and the athletic contest has become a struggle between the coaches and not the students of the schools.

While I do not disbelieve in it. I would be inclined to pour cold water on it. The coaches and not the students of the schools. not the students of the schools.

"Rugby has many advantages over the game of football. Every man is his own Class F coach. He is called to do all the things that are done. When any injuries result they are confined to the legs, while in football internal linjuries result and age, although the annual rush is a good permanently affect the nervous system. There is less hysteria about Rugby. It is more interesting to watch and does not have the excitement and spirit of battle that football has where there is a yard to gain and anything can be done to gain

Rugby Has Its Evils.

"Rugby, however, does not eliminate all the evils, but there are only two al-ternatives—the abolition of football or the Rugby game, and the colleges in the east will realize this. Football cannot be modified to eliminate its defect, so its abolition or the advent of the Rugby game will sooner or later become necessary. The best plan would be to get along without either of these games. Any new game can be introduced into our athletics so long as it does not require the mass plays and interference.
"College spirit and demonstration in athletic contests should not be forbidden, but checked. It is not the bleachers who are playing the game, but the contest-ants. This is another advantage Rugby has over the American football-enthus asm and cheers cut little in the victory. College spirit is overdone and instead of thing in so far as it prevents the classes from clashing at other times and inter-rupting the school work. The freshmen and sophomores will get at each other anyway and it is probably better to arrange a battle and satisfy them. At Wisconsin the sophomores ducked the freshmen for the annual class fight, but this seems to be absurd. We tried a cootball game at Stanford. It might have been a success if there had been twelve footballs instead of one, but the of supplying each side with plenty rope and no knives and letting them bind each other seems to have proved the most satisfactory. In our experience the annual rush has satisfied the students ushes, in which football tactics are resorted to, are injuries, and I am opposed to them, as the students go into them improperly clothed and not physically prepared for them, and serious injuries are likely to result.

Freshmen Should Be Barred.

"The eligibility rules that are now in force at Stanford are satisfactory and there is no indication of professionalism, although I believe the freshmen should not be allowed to compete in athletic contests, as they should devote the first year to their school work. The one-year rear to their school work. The one-year vule should generally be established by colleges throughout the county, and it can be depended on as a safeguard against orofessionalism. Since establishment at Stanford there has been no suspicion at ither Berkeley or Stanford.'

On the Republican side Manti has three candidates for the nomination for judge. They are G. A. Iverson, Lewis Larsen and Albert Christensen. Each of these gentlemen has friends who insist that their man is best qualified for the position, but it is altogether probable that if they came into the convention for all three, instead of settling the matter at home as to which of them should be the choice, the nomi-nation will go to some other man. For district attorney the race appears to be between Ephraim Hansen of this city, Judge Frye of Price and Attorney Dixon of Castle Dale. Mr. Hansen is one of the most successful lawyers in this county and he will have a big following for the nomination. Judge Frye and Mr. Dixon are not so well known in this county, but they will probably come into the convention with the support of their ome countles. The Democratic lawyers in this district are so few that there will be no scramble for places. The nomination for judge will go to Judge Ericksen, and L. O.
